woollen (equipe jersey) guarantees that you'll be the most stylish rider in the chingang. You'll be one of the most comfortable too because it's made from a SLIPP Merino fabric, with a merino wool inner face that's warm, breathable and super-soft next to your skin. The polyester outer stops the wind blowing in, as do the ribbed merino neck and wrist bands and the stretchy hem. The attention to detail is excellent – right down to the web address printed on the back-pocket buttons. It washes fine in the machine too, even when filthy.

ENDURA BAA BAA MERINO LONG SLEEVE BASELAYER

3 If you're worried that Endura's wool baselayer will be scratchy, don't be. It's 100% super-fine merino and incredibly soft. It comes in a body-hugging fit and is really springy so it stays in contact with your skin as you move, allowing it to get on with shifting sweat away from your body and providing plenty of insulation. The flat-stitched Baa Baa isn't as lightweight as many synthetic tops and it can take on more moisture when you really work up a sweat but it remains warm when damp and comes out of the washing machine smelling fresh.
